THE EVENING STAR has a regular and permanent circulation in Washington three limes larger than that of any other paper In the city. As a local NEWS paper and Advertising Medium It has no competitor.

The admission of states into the Union should never be delayed on partisan grounds. As a matter of fact all parties have assisted in such delays when it suited their temporary purposes. There still exists in the new northplaced in the way of their admission. Among stocks are here, the choicest and most expensive as the few remaining territories is New Mexico, well as low priced but reliable goods being represented. about the admission of which as a state some thing has been said ever since 1850. New Mexico has now, it claims, a sufficient population to entitle it to a Representative, and if its people are largely Spanish in origin they have, they represent, been long enough cooling their heels in the corridor of the republic to know Royal's best values have been selected and cut in price what is expected of an American common- for Thursday. wealth. As to politics, while New Mexico is democratic at present the vote is very close and the republicans sometimes carry the elec-tion for Delegate to Congress. It is probable that the admission of that community into the sisterhood of states will form one of the leading propositions to be brought before Congress at the approaching session, and that the next or forty-fifth state of the Union, when the republic has become satisfied on the questions of population and general fitness, will be New Mexico. If it be all the same to her people it might be a wise stroke of policy to seek admission under a different name-one better calculated to arouse sympathy and more in accordance with the nomenclature and ideas of the people of the United States.

The annual report of the commissioner of Indian affairs in so far as it calls on Congress to declare that the Indian tribes in the United States are dependent people, incapable of war and subject to the jurisdiction of the govern-ment, is strictly in the line of later legislation. But there has been no explicit declaration and that seems desirable to place the matter definitely before the public. The present treat-ment of the uncivilized tribes is anomalous. It will save expense and be more consonant with a humane and enlightened policy to formally assume full jurisdiction over the reservations. To give the Indian the protection of the courts of law is beneficial to bim at the same time that it is better also for the whites in the vicinity. The giving of land in severalty is doing something, and will do much more to revolutionize the social condition of the aborigines, but other measures are needed as adjuncts to that measure.

The report that Eugland has at last aroused from lethergy and is endeavoring to form an alliance with China to prevent Russia from occupying Pamir, "the roof of the world," as it is called by the Arabs, directs attention to the physical situation and political importance of the great plateau. Pamir is a bleak, desolate table-land in the very heart of Asia, occupied by a few scattering tribes of Tartars. Lying between the Hindu-Kush and Thian Shan ranges of mountains, it is the water shed dividing the waters which flow east and west into Kashgar and Oxus rivers respectively, or the Chinese and the Caspian systems. Its military importance is due to its being the key on one side to the back door of the Chinese empire and on the other to the rear of British India. England may already be too late to recover what has been appropriated, but she may be in time to prevent a further seizure of

One of the most gratifying points in the forthcoming report of the Secretary of War is the decrease in the number of desertions from the army. The army's greatest abuse for a quarter of a century has been the numerous ertions that have occurred. By many the evil was considered irreparable. But the Secretary shows such a ratio of decrease during the past two years as, if continued, would blot out the disgrace in a very short time. The percentage for the year was only 5.8 of the total enlisted strength, just half the rate of two years ago and the lowest since the war.

Congress is a large body, but eight vacancies in the House before it even organizes constitute a number sufficiently large to be felt. Four of these vacancies occur in the New York delegation alone, one by death (Gen. Spinola) and three by resignation. The death of Gen. Lee makes one vacancy in the Virginia delegation, that of Mr. Ford one in the Michigan delegation. The other vacancies by death are those of Mr. Gamble in South Dakota and Mr. Houk

Moderate socialism has achieved a distinct success in Germany by the withdrawal from the socialist congress of the handful of extremists. But this does not please the enemies of socialism. Socialism may be a sort of pseudo democracy, but it is all the more able to become real democracy when it is divested of these bar-

The republicans of Ohio are not half so much concerned about Maj. McKinley as they are about the legislature. They will work at a white heat to prevent the presidential electoral system of the buckeye state from being Michnized. The loss of fifteen electoral ballots in Ohio might, probably would, be fatal to that party in the next presidential election.

It is pleasant to know that the Methodist ccumenical council, which adjourned yesterday, appreciated Washington and Washington's efrts to make it comfortable, and, as some of its members expressed themselves, felt like staying here all the while. PRICE IS A SECONDARY CONSIDERATION. You naturally first look to the style, quality, fit and finish of your Wrap. The Palais Royal asks the logical reader these questions: Cannot the merchant with a cash business buy as well as sell as advantageously, if not more so, than the merchant who gives and asks credit? Cannot the Palais Royal's buyer, with twelve years' experience of Washington trade, make selec-

"Ribbon day" today. No doubt of it. The crowd in the Ribbon quarter proved it. A happy crowd, too. Many said it was a better bargain than they expected.

We preferred to surprise you by not telling how good they were. An error crept in yesterday's announcement—but in your favor. The types made us say that No. 9 Ribbons were 12c. per yard, and they should have said 10c. per yard. We have been selling them at ten cents per yard all day-two cents less than you expected to pay.

Here are the lots again and a day or two's sale like today will cut an awful big hole in the stock. Still, we bought heavily and have enough for three or four days at least. ALL-SILK RIBBONS.

Positively Unmatchable AT 25c.

The best way to judge a store is by the things in it that everybody knows the worth of. Take Handkerchiefs for instance—and they are one of our strongest points—always—particularly so today—with such reinforcements as these:
LADIES' ALL PURE LINEN UNLAUNDERED HANDKERCHIEFS—sheer and finescalloped edge, embroidered in five distinct dainty designs,

25c. EACH.

Nothing remarkable in the price, only when attached to such exquisite things as these it becomes so and merits special attention. The linen is pure linen, as it is in all our Hander-chiefs. We've said that time and again, but you can't hear it too often. It would be much easier for us to get cetton and linen or all cotton Handkerchiefs. It would be quite as easy to keep on in this common rut and call them
"linen," but we don't do things that way.

Linen is linen here, just as everything else in the store is exactly what we say it is.

BLACK GOODS TALK. 811 MARKET SPACE.

"When Crear says, Do this, it is performed."
When Dame Fashion utters her commands thousand yield to her voice. Black Dress Goods have bee ordered by her to the front, as a leading style in dress and while in time past Black was used only in case of mourning and by ladies of mature age, now, in consequence of her ambition to extend her kingdom an away, she has ordered the wearing of Black by the young and indeed even by small children, and it needless to say she is obeyed.

Black Good being so extensively used we have taken great pains to be a second or the same power was never so great.
